

ABSTRACT

NURINDRA SUSILOWARDHANA. The Study of Agriculture Commodities Potential in order to Contribute The Bondowoso Regency Agropolitan District Development. This research is under direction by Dwi Aulia Puspitaningrum and Budi Widayanto. This study aims to analyze the growth rate of agricultural sector in The Bondowoso Regency Agropolitan District Development, to find out the agriculture commodities that have comparative advantage, to find out the spread pattern of agriculture commodities, and to describe resources, location, region economic, and socio-cultural those become the four pillars of regional development planning in The Bondowoso Regency Agropolitan District Development. The research method used descriptive method. The analysis techniques used in this research are the Shift-Share Analysis, the Revealed Comparative Advantage (RCA), and the Geographic Information System Analysis. Results of this research showed the progressive growth of agricultural sector in The Bondowoso Regency Agropolitan District Development ($SN_{i,r} = 4648,49$ million rupiahs). There are 23 agriculture commodities that have comparative advantage ($RCA > 1$). From this research, the reseacher has an expectation to help the local government in context of the development planning in The Bondowoso Regency Agropolitan District Development.

Keywords : agropolitan, growth rate, comparative advantage, spread pattern